Accessing My Grades

My Grades is the page that will show you everything in the course that is a gradable element, and if it has been graded.

There are three major ways to see My Grades:

- Through the My Grades link under Tools on the right side of your My Courses page. You will see all gradable items in all of your UNM Learn courses.
- Through the Global Navigation Tool where you will see all gradable items in all of your UNM Learn courses. You can sort by Course or Status, such as Last Graded or Last Activity.
- Your instructors may have added a My Grades link in the Course Menu.

Rubrics

If your instructor has told you he or she is using a rubric for grading, move your mouse over that assignment or discussion forum to see the View Rubric link.

Always try to look at a grading rubric BEFORE you do your work, so you are clear about how your instructor will be grading you.

If your assignment has not been graded, the Grade column contains a symbol indicating its status. If your assignment has been submitted and graded, the grade appears in the Grade column. To view more detail, click the link to see the assignment's Review Submission History page. This page includes:

- Instructor Feedback: This section lists your grade and any feedback provided by your instructor.
- Attached Files: This section provides links to open or download any files attached by you or your instructor. For example, your instructor might provide comments in a file that you submitted with your assignment. If you see feedback for an item but do not see a grade, contact your instructor.
